

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A UNARIUN? UNARIUS CODE OF ETHICS

To be a Unariun means that I am honest with my fellowman—to speak the truth at all times. I treat others as I wish to be treated and do not speak unkindly of others, either in or out of their presence, for I know that whatever unkindness I may feel with another is but a reflection of that which is within myself.

I do not boast that I may be a Unariun student, nor do I strive to pull others who are not familiar with the Science into it, for I know each soul has his own niche to fill, and at present Unarius may not be for him. However, this does not make me any better than he. It only means I have started upon my path of overcoming, which all souls shall likewise do at some time.

I appreciate the truth that no one soul is any better than another; that all souls are on evolutionary paths—some consciously, others in an unconscious way. In my understanding of Unarius, it helps me to understand not only my own problems better and how to cope with them, but also helps me to view others in their problems more objectively and not in a condemning or derogatory way, with the understanding of principle.

I have or am learning that I, myself, am the cause and fault for all my problems and blame no one else for them, and when I can objectify these original causes, healing takes place.

I am working toward the time when I leave the physical and can ascend into an astral world of a higher frequency, due to my present efforts to understand this ever-progressive way.

I realize it is not my place to go about pointing out the causes of others' problems for each case is different, and I am, as yet, in no position to have that Infinite Contact with the Brotherhood from whence stem these answers. I am the only person I need to be concerned with, teaching-wise. And when one asks regarding the teachings, need I give out what information I may have or believe to be fact, shall I respond regarding Unarius. I know that by continued study and application of principle shall I promote my inner growth and expand my consciousness, and all others shall likewise need to study and apply the Unarius concept. Knowing these things, and acting thusly, does give me a sense of inner peace and a security unobtainable elsewhere.

I am aware that the objective of a Unariun is to become today a better, more intelligent soul than I was yesterday. I know that the former, old ways, the emotions and reactions—the resentments, hatreds, and desires to get even—have no place in the consciousness of a truly striving Unarius student; for we must forgive not only ourselves for past ill deeds done, but also to release these attitudes toward others for one's own benefit!

I have learned that one need not resent his negative past as it comes to him but to welcome this past that gives opportunity for overcoming these blocks, ties, shocks, etc.

If man learns to love instead of hate or criticize or carry revenge, etc., it can help We Brothers to better extend our help to those in need, help the student to become more receptive to this ever-present help!
